Re Item V

Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

State of the art:

Document (D1) WO 00/40449 A cited in the application forms the most relevant state of the art. It discloses a method of producing reaction rod according to claim 1 or 8 with the only difference that not jig is used for positioning of attachment pieces to the rod. Furthermore this document discloses a reaction rod according to the preamble of claim 5

Distinguishing features:

The methods of claims 1 and 9 of the actual application are distinguished from the state of the art in that a mounting jig is used for exact positioning of the attachment pieces to the rod. Claim 5 is distinguished from the state of the art in that the attachment pieces are formed as housing that are manufactured by stamping and bending of a plate-shaped material.

Objective task:

There was to design a light weight reaction rod having low production costs.

Grounds for the statement:

The method (claims 1 and 8) and the subject-matter (claim 5) of the present application is considered as new (Art. 33(2) PCT) (see above) and implies an inventive step (Art. 33(3) PCT), as none of the opposing documents gives a hint to use a mounting jig or housings made from plate-shaped material to accomplish the above task.. Claims 2 to 4, 6 and 7 depending on the above claims are showing further embodiments of the invention. EP 1 329 343 showing all features of claim 5 would be novelty destroying in the regional phase in front of the EPO as being an earlier document according to Art. 54(3) EPC.

Industrial applicability:

The subject-matter of the present application is considered as industrially applicable (Art. 33(4) PCT) as it is used in the vehicles industry.
